

Adjunct Faculty in Engineering

Shape Future Engineers at College of the Ozarks!

Are you a passionate engineering professional looking to make a real difference in students' lives? College of the Ozarks is seeking dynamic part-time Adjunct Faculty members to teach in-person courses in the multi-disciplinary engineering program in the James P. Keeter School of Engineering.

What You'll Do:

- Inspire and educate undergraduate students in engaging courses related to industrial/manufacturing, chemical, mechanical, or civil engineering (structures)
- Bring your real-world experience to the classroom, making learning relevant and exciting
- Serve as a mentor and positive role model, guiding students in their academic and professional journeys
- Collaborate with a supportive team of faculty and staff who are dedicated to student success

Why College of the Ozarks?

We're more than just a college; we're a community rooted in Christian values and a commitment to excellence. As an adjunct faculty member, you'll have the opportunity to:

- Integrate your faith and professional expertise in a meaningful way
- Work with highly motivated students who are eager to learn
- Enjoy a beautiful campus environment and a close-knit community

Are You a Good Fit?

We're looking for someone who is:

- Committed to our Christian mission and values
- Passionate about teaching and mentoring undergraduate students
- Self-motivated and adaptable with strong communication skills
- Able to work collaboratively with faculty, staff, and industrial partners

Qualifications:

- M.S. or Ph.D. in engineering OR
- M.S. in a relevant non-engineering field with significant, documented engineering experience OR
- P.E. license OR
- For select industrial engineering courses, a Lean Six Sigma Black Belt certification

Ready to Apply?

If you're ready to join a team that's shaping the next generation of hard-working versatile engineers, we encourage you to apply! Please send a letter of application and CV to: Dr. Susan DeWoody, Provost, PO Box 17, Point Lookout, MO 65726, or email aoliver@cofo.edu.