

Professional Program Licensure Disclosure: Accounting (ACT)

The U.S. Department of Education (DOE) has regulations in place regarding disclosures about professional licensure and certification programs offered on campuses. The College is required to disclose the applicable educational prerequisites for professional licensure or certification the program prepares the student to enter in any state in which the program's enrolled students reside.

The ACT curriculum at College of the Ozarks has been designed to meet the licensure requirements in Missouri and Arkansas.

Students who are planning to apply for licensure in a state other than Missouri or Arkansas after completion of their program should refer to website below. Each state's board of public accountancy makes the ultimate decision as to whether an individual will be eligible to sit for licensure based on the rules and regulations in place at the time the individual submits their application.

Please note that licensure requirements are always subject to change and the College has no control over state licensing requirements. Although College of the Ozarks will affirm the licensure requirements on a routine basis, we strongly recommend that students inquire with the professional state licensing board to confirm that the intended program of choice will meet the requirements for licensure before enrolling.

A convenient resource to utilize for reviewing state licensure requirements is regularly updated by Becker, which specializes in preparing applicants to pass the CPA exam, and is found at <https://www.becker.com/cpa-review/requirements>.
